Charlottesville High School
Charlottesville, Va. 22901

Construction Ends Years of Debate . . .

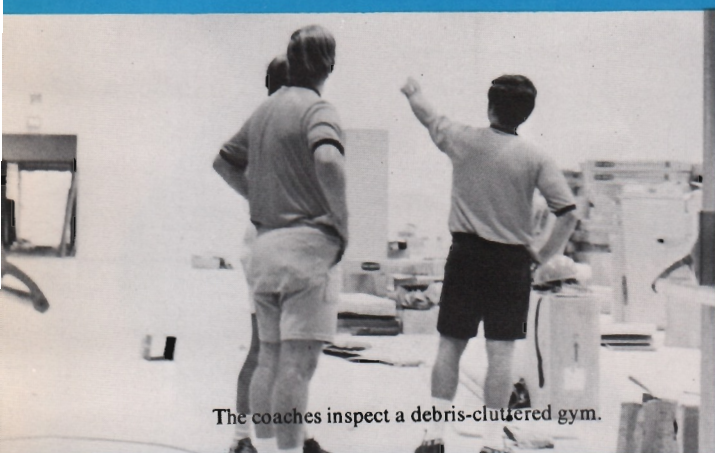

After ten years of planning and preparation, finally the new building would be ready for its 1900 occupants. Two bond referendums were required before the building could be begun. Inflation, budget cuts, and unexpected expenses caused the original plan to be changed. This raised objections from all sides of the new school issue. With the new building, inevitably there was a new name, Charlottesville High School.

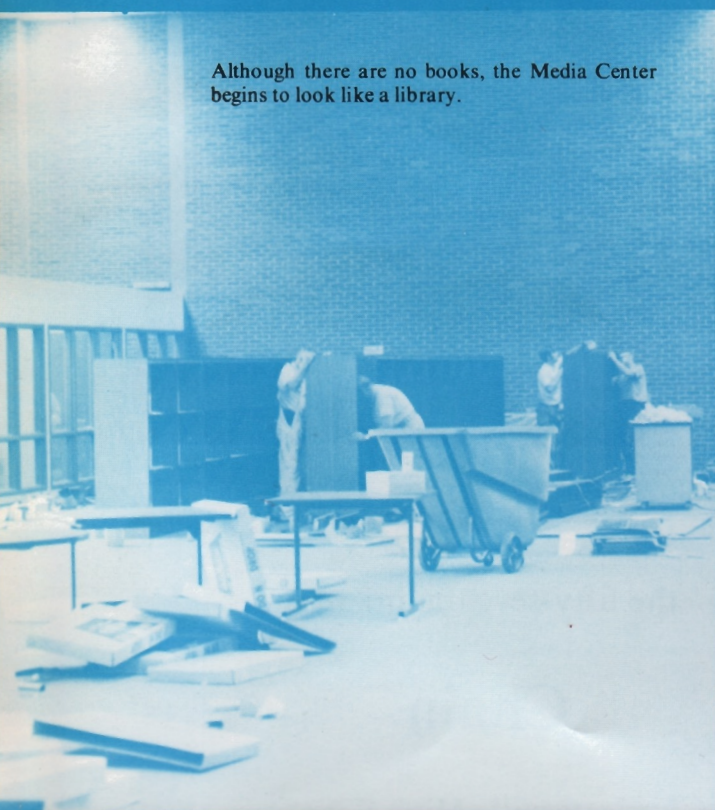

An English Construction Company electrician installs the lighting in the uncompleted bandroom.

Although the shop equipment has been installed, there is still evidence of workmen.

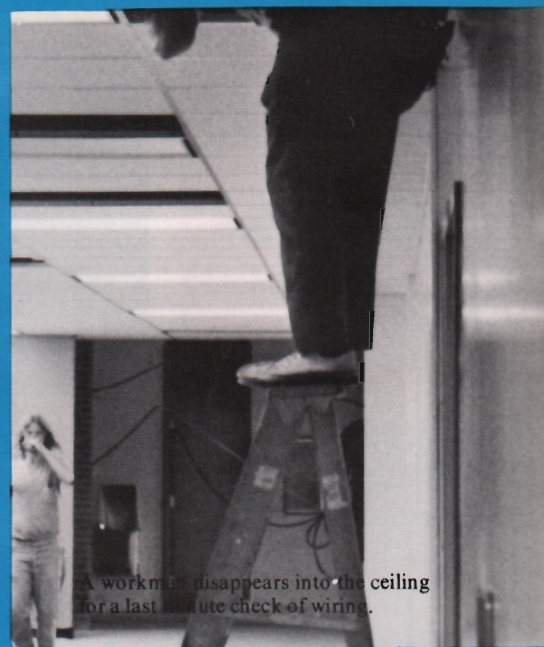

The coaches inspect a debris-cluttered gym.

Although there are no books, the Media Center begins to look like a library.

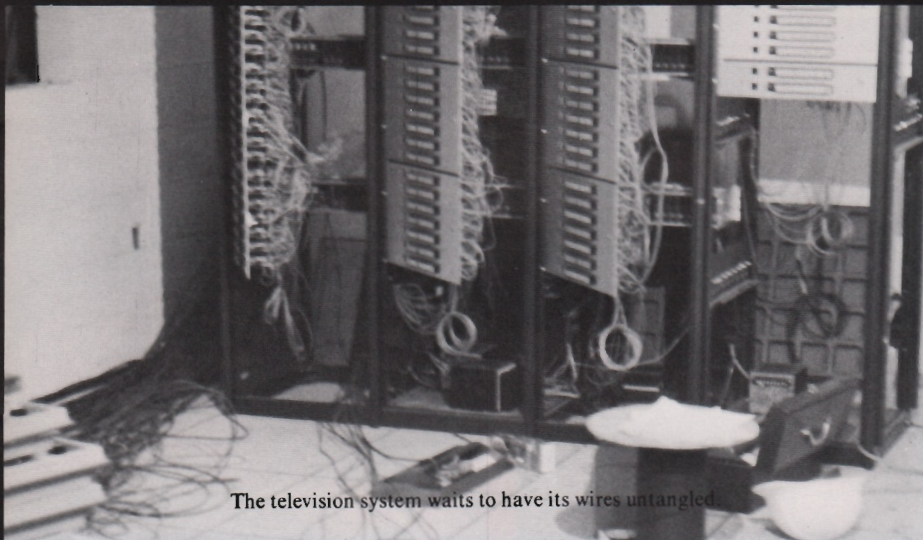

The balcony allows for a fine view of Mr. Miles and Ms. Price.

A workman disappears into the ceiling for a last minute check of wiring.

But Not On Time

Containing three wings, 400 rooms, and a Media Center longer than a football field, C.H.S. stands three stories tall. Although students began classes two weeks late, the building was not complete. While students ran from A wing to C wing, workmen strove to complete the bandroom, journalism room, gym, industrial arts, music and art areas, and many other sections of the building.

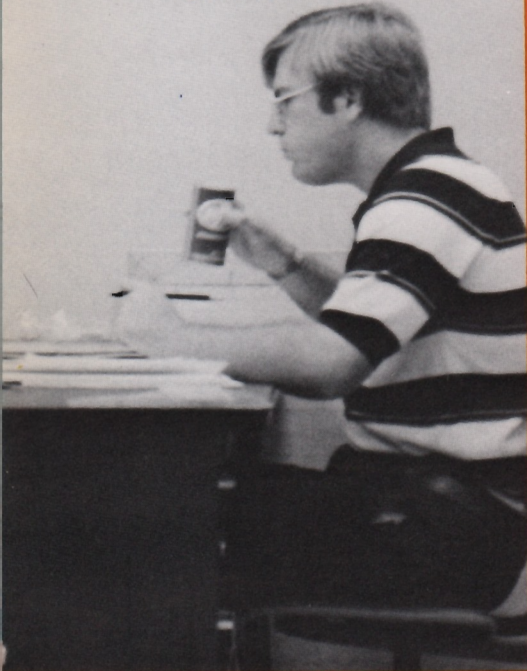

Standing amid pools of water on the roof, an air-conditioning unit chills the building.

Opening Delayed

The period prior to the arrival of students was anything but a lonely time for the almost completed Charlottesville High School. Busy workmen struggled to get many areas of the building finished, while teachers stepped around, ladders, over wires, and between boxes piled everywhere.

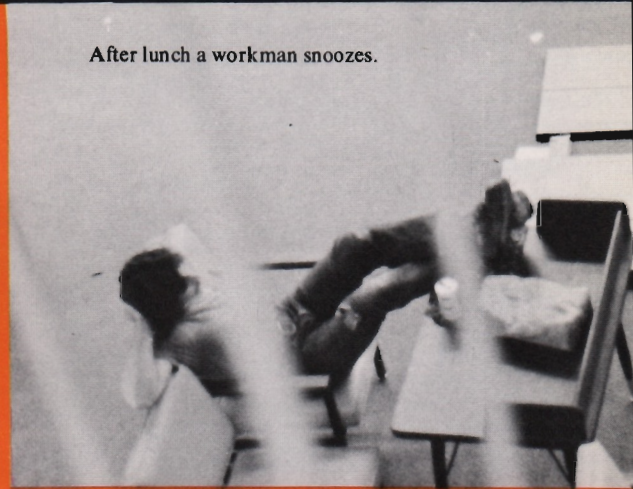

During a memorable pre-school faculty meeting, school superintendent Dr. William Ellena gave the staff the sudden, unexpected vacation which prolonged the summer break for over 1900 students. However, some of the curious did manage to get a sneak preview of their huge new school.

Mrs. Frantz and Mrs. Allen discuss Media Center concerns.

New Surroundings Cause Excitement

A big day for all the Knights was the opening of the new school. For many, it was a day of confusion and perhaps a little nervous apprehension about beginning high school. For others, it was an exhilarating taste of the many exciting potentials of the big, impressive facility they had long awaited.

As schedules were examined, classrooms were found, and friends were reunited after the extra-long summer, everyone found plenty to talk about. It was generally agreed upon that this would certainly be an interesting school year.

Confusion is reduced when Sue Anday gives directions.

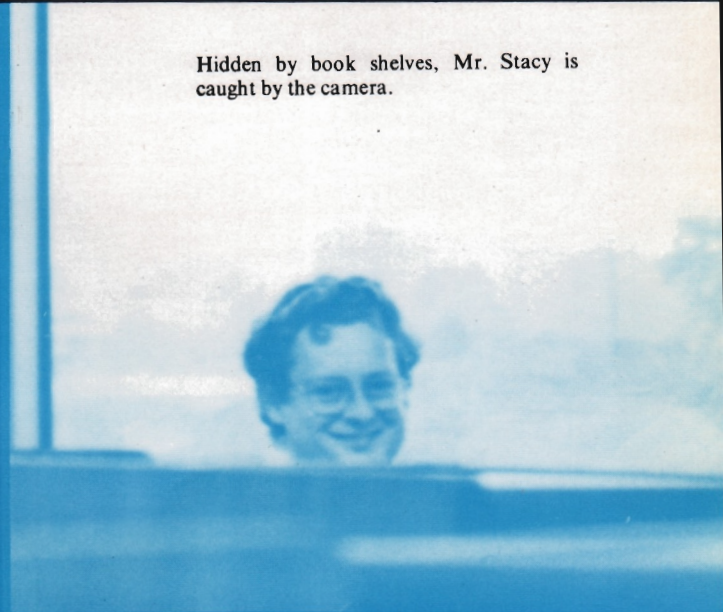

Freshmen and Sophomores wait for the doors to be unlocked.

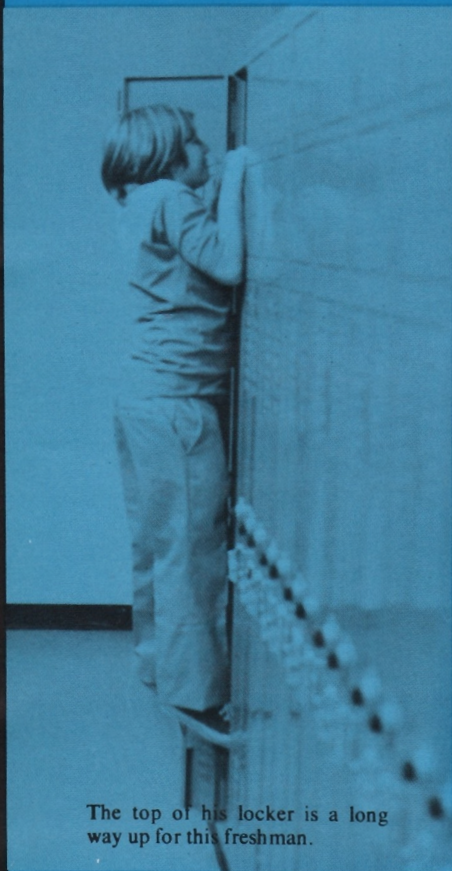

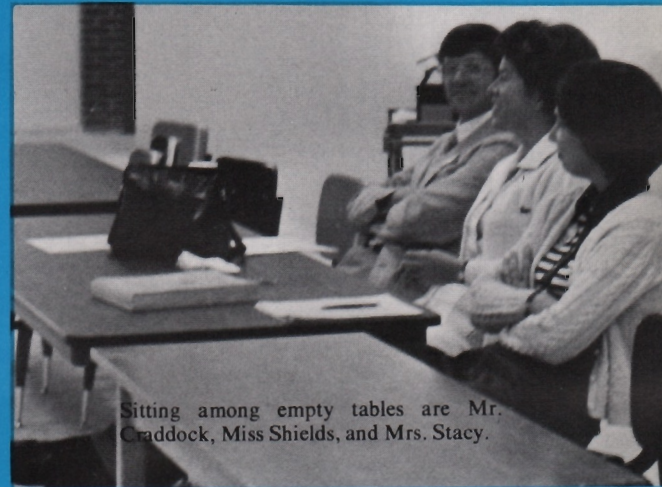

While speaking to Mrs. Snook, Karen Bingler ignores confusion.

Hidden by book shelves, Mr. Stacy is caught by the camera.

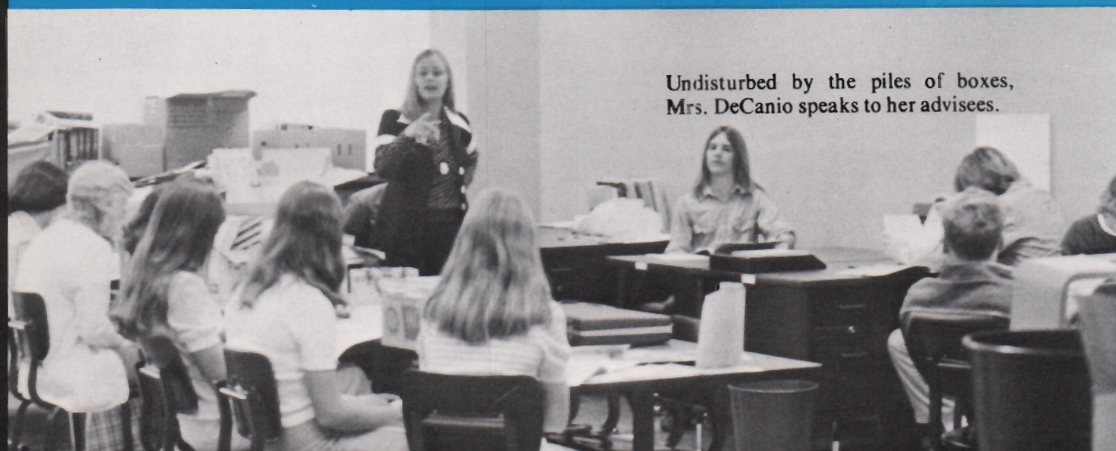

The top of his locker is a long way up for this freshman.

Sitting among empty tables are Mr. Craddock, Miss Shields, and Mrs. Stacy.

Teachers hand out schedules to juniors and seniors.

Undisturbed by the piles of boxes, Mrs. DeCanio speaks to her advisees.

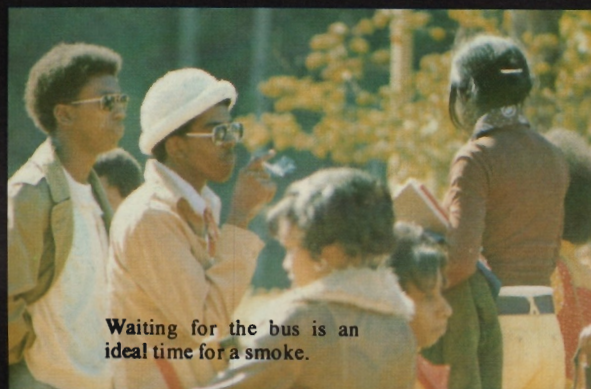

Smiles and books return after the confusion of orientation.

Directing the band's marching is Mr. Tornello.

Before practice members of the drill team pose with the banner.

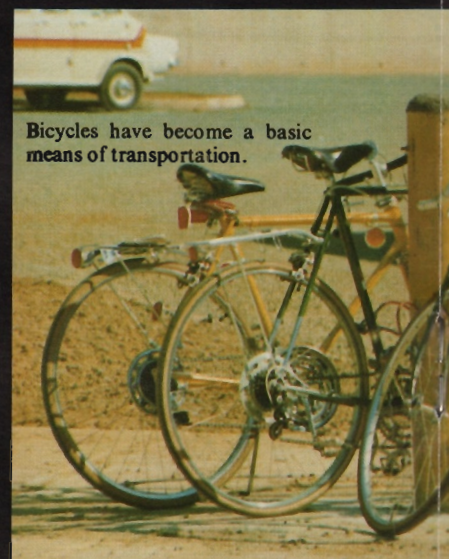

Waiting for the bus is an ideal time for a smoke.

Work Ends . . . And Begins.

It was finally a reality. After many long months of planning, waiting, and agonizing over things done and not done, Charlottesville High School was occupied by over 1900 students and a staff of 150 teachers, administrators, and other personnel. The new year was anticipated as one which would bring new traditions and new honors to a well-known name, the Charlottesville Black Knight.

Remember When

A new and very modern building such as Charlottesville High School offered many contrasts from the old surroundings left behind at Lane which was new in 1940. Students could not help but admire the brightly colored walls and beautiful brick interiors of the classrooms. For the first few days in the halls an eavesdropper could hear, "Have you seen the view from the Media Center balcony?" "An elevator?!?" "How many cafeterias?" The new building certainly was a happy change.

Ready Or Not . . .

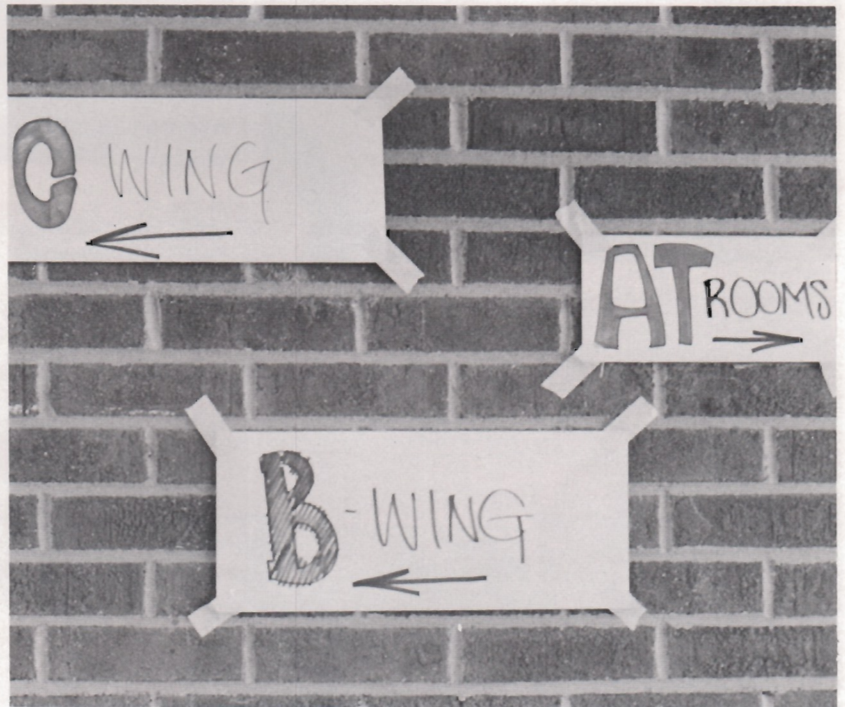

When September 16 rolled around, high school students in Charlottesville got a chance to try out their delayed eight and one-half million dollar school. The atmosphere was generally enthusiastic. It proved to be "a completely unique experience" as students as well as teachers became lost in the many look-alike corridors.

New Periods Add Variety

TAP and LAP were two of the new ideas conceived for the new building. The TAP period provided for closer contact between teachers and their advisees. The role of the teacher adviser was one of a counselor and friend who could keep track of each student and his school life (and his pink slips).

The increased freedom of LAP was welcomed by all students who participated in the widely-varied activities and meetings. Another often-heard suggestion for the schedule was a period of NAP.

Let's Celebrate

After a shaky beginning, Homecoming finally materialized. School spirit was not dead, but vibrantly alive. This was demonstrated by the hours of painting, glueing, and stapling on the part of all who participated in the parade.

Although the student body began with nine nominations for homecoming queen, the traditional four were chosen after much additional paperwork.

On the field, the Knights gained a victory against an old rival, John Marshall. With a great reason for celebration couples danced to the tunes of Charisma.

The theme "We've Only Just Begun" fell right in since bake sales, a car wash, and last year's decorations contributed to the financial success of the Homecoming dance.

We're Gonna Win

In accordance with traditions developed at Lane, students participated on Spirit Week before the annual battle against Albemarle. For two days cheerleaders were bombarded with shouts of BEAT ALBEMARLE! Carmels and lemon drops were the rewards of all those who could count to ten. The S.C.A. sold spirit links and of course we outsold Albemarle.

The big events of the week were Grit Day and the pep rally. Imitating their county counterparts, Knights arrived at school wearing bobby socks and smeared with grease. Painted freckles and tatooes abounded. At a rousing meeting of the classes, Alfred Albemarle was read his last rites as the Jazz Ensemble played "Taps".

Working Blues

The "working blues" touched many CHS students this year. For being the small community it is, Charlottesville offered students many job opportunities.

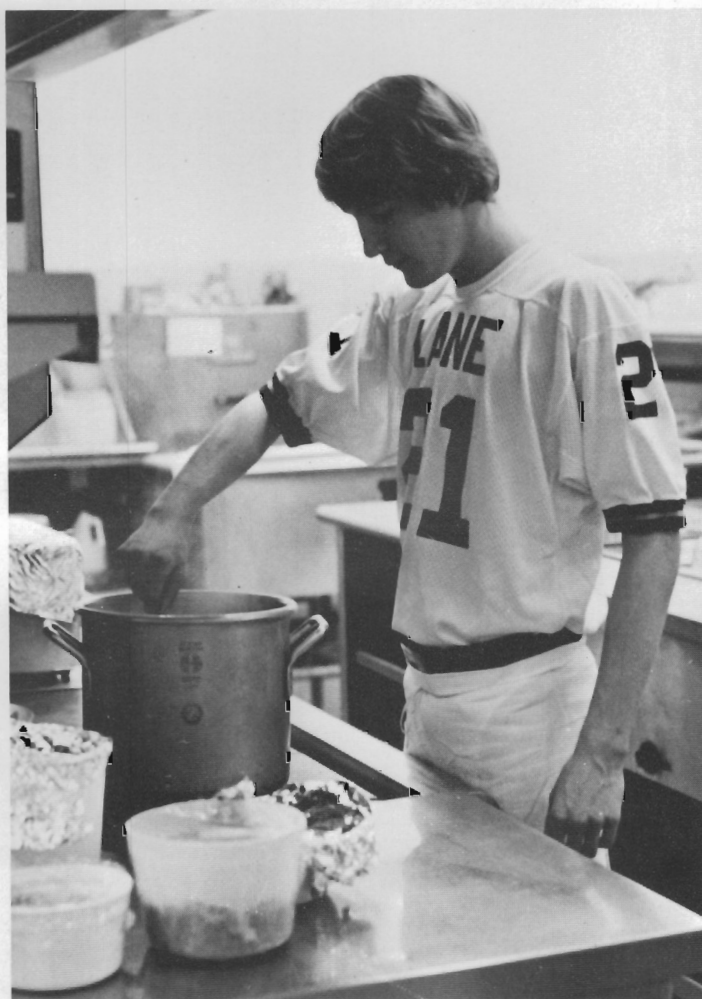

Why do people work anyway? Don't they have enough to do with school and home? Well, there are lots of reasons. Seniors who have college on their minds, others training for a career, and just for the satisfaction of having a little extra spending money.

Whether the job was training dogs, busing tables, or delivering flowers, CHS students were always reliable and efficient.

Sunshine City

The great outdoors provided jobs for many of our students. A prime example of this is Greg Quinn. At the age of 14, he invested in some undeveloped land and went into the wood business. Greg at first was unable to drive his shipments, but soon purchased a truck and hired a driver.

Now he has not only his license, but a two-truck business. However, his thriving enterprise doesn't interfere with his studies. C.H.S. students proved to be not only ambitious, but hard-working and knowledgeable.

Hardees, Here We Come

Last year's privilege of permitting students to leave for lunch was discontinued with the start of the new school. Unhappy students moved the Student School Board to make a proposal which allowed students to leave during lunch. The administration approved the proposal, yet the superintendent would not agree to it. After much compromise, the superintendent withdrew his original decision and gave permission to leave for lunch on a trial basis.

Living Comedy

Practice makes perfect, and the Player's Club production of "The Taming of the Shrew" proved to be just that. More than a month and a half in the making, the final show was presented on the nights of Jan. 16, 17, and 18.

Under the direction of Mrs. Terry, the play involved not only fine acting and costume design, but along with the music accompaniment, set the mood for an enjoyable night at the theater.

Swamp Tromping

Early on the morning of Jan. 23, the ecology class set out for a ten day field study of the Florida Everglades. The group established a precedent by riding a public school bus with Mr. Graves driving.

While camping, the students experienced a few inconveniences such as having to walk a few miles in order to take a cold shower, having to drink water with an iron flavor, and the fun of having breakfast with seagulls flying overhead.

The highlights of the trip were the two canoe trips, the airboat rides, the boat trip to Cape Sable, the night prowling where animals activities were viewed by the light of the moon, and a swamp tromp.

The class also visited Miami and Delray Beach to observe the city where beach erosion and human demands place burdens on the natural water system.

Offices Filled

As established by the constitution, S.C.A. elections were held in the first week of March. Although they were delayed by snow, the elections went more smoothly than past elections. Despite an apathic beginning the competition was stiff. The voting was done in T.A. classes and the elections committee counted the ballots. Reaching Out

Black Culture Week left varied feelings among students. Aside from complaints, I felt Black Culture Week was a rewarding experience.

The two days of discussion seemed to create some ill feeling. Many expected to learn about Black history. Realizing that we couldn't teach Black history in one week, we concentrated on making an effort to see it included in the curriculum all year. The play, which is the only thing some students expect out of Black Culture Week, was held at Lane. Since many didn't come, they thought that what they saw was not enough.

Being a senior, this is my last year to participate in Black Culture Week at C.H.S. I will leave feeling that this and the others which came before have been very good. I hope the remaining students will participate in Black Culture Week above everything else.

Sports Move

One of the controversial issues which has been debated ever since C.H.S. was in the planning stage is the matter of athletic facilities. The new sports facilities are far from perfect. Problems range from uneven tennis courts to poor drainage in the shower stalls. The gym has a new Tartan surface which is fine until you fall down. The bleachers have caused several problems.

The track had to be squeezed into an area that wasn't big enough. It also has more dips than a roller coaster. Even something as basic as lockers have been troublesome. Football and baseball, two of the winningest sports in Charlottesville, don't even have new facilities at all. These are just a few of the problems; any coach or athlete could elaborate.

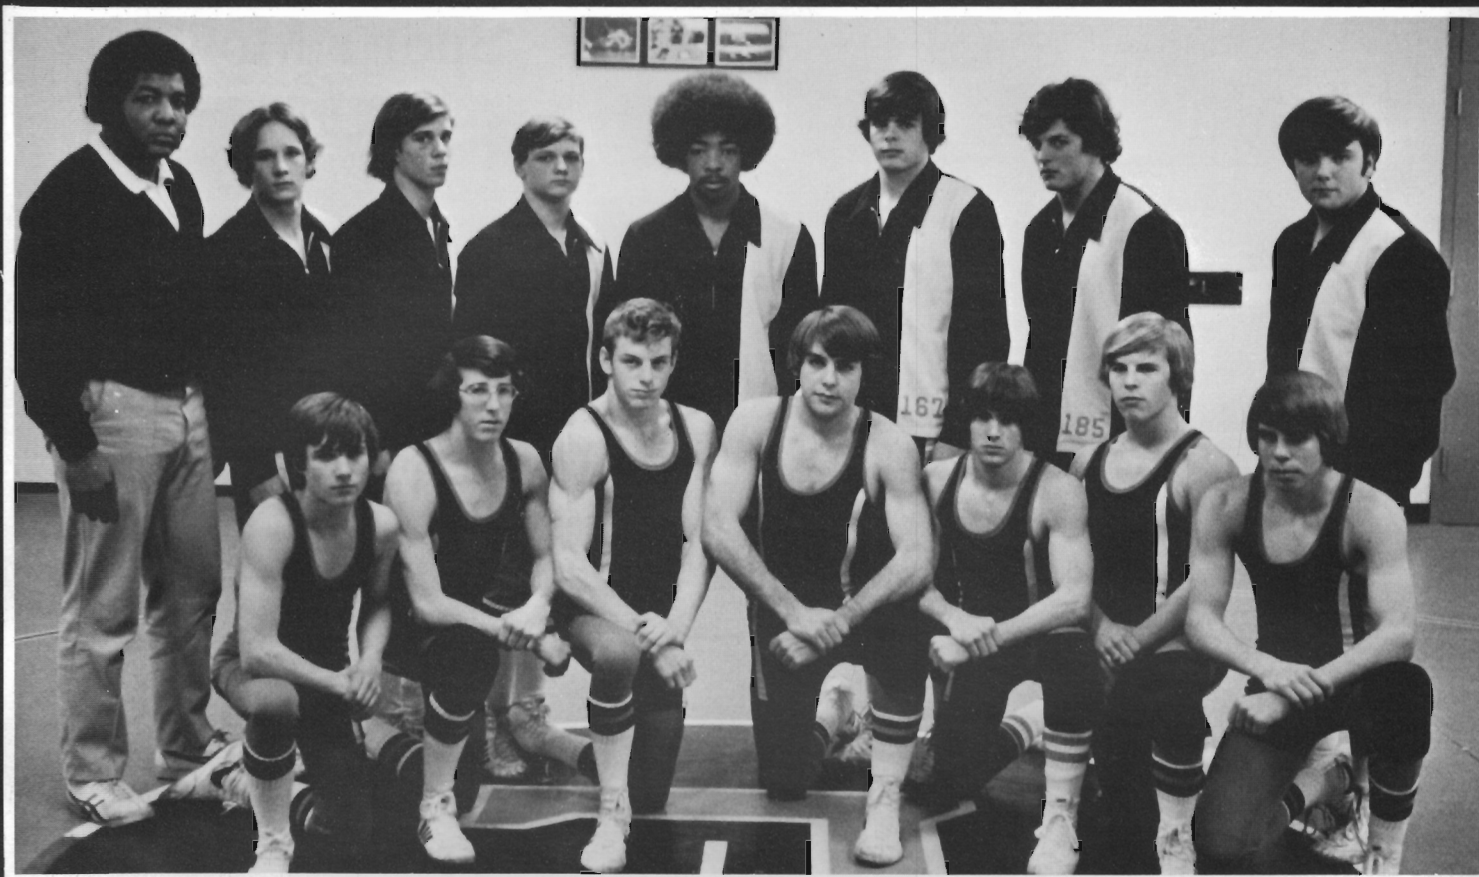

Even with all these problems, athletics still strive at C.H.S. Now that we're all moved in, it's time to start solving these problems.

After practicing in the Lane cafeteria for many years, Charlottesville finally provided the Grapplers with an authentic wrestling room. The new facility increased the dedication and hard work of spirited team members. The C.H.S. wrestling team with a satisfying record of 6-6 proved that the coaching ability of Bob Romanac and Curtis Elder along with the leadership of co-captains Cosmo DiFazio and Jackie Williams added up to a successful season.

Knights Finish Strong . . . 7—3

This year's football squad had various defeats and successes. They started the season promisingly with two scrimmage and two regular season wins. The third game against powerhouse Woodbridge was the biggest game of the year. They played well, but lost in the last few minutes on a long pass play. The whole team was heartbroken. However they had good spirit the following week and again played well against a fine Gar-Field team. Again they lost in the nightmarish last few minutes. Their spirits were down for the next three games, two of which they won and the third in which they played poorly and were soundly beaten by a strong Stafford team.

The major success of the season was when they bounced back and beat a very good R.E. Lee squad. They closed out the season with two impressive victories, a homecoming win over old Capitol District foe John Marshall, and a victory of sweet revenge over cross-town rival Albemarle.

It's Status Quo

This year's football team went 7-3. For Coach Theodose, it was his thirteenth winning season. Coach Theodose tried to bring his winning tradition to C.H.S. Having always been associated with winning it was natural that the team did well. With the aid of the seven other coaches the success of C.H.S. was insured.

Progress . . .

The J.V. Football team had a great season. Their record of 5-1 was the best for the Black Knights in a long time. They have come back after seasons of apathy and bad luck to a strong, winning season. The J.V.'s do not get much recognition or praise for their fine performances, but junior varsity football sharpens the skills and toughens the mind for on-coming varsity football days.

With the coaching ability of Miss Emma McDaniel, the Black Knights had another successful season. Their over-all record for games played this year was 8-5. Having practiced every-day throughout the fall, their hard efforts led to a satisfying and a winning season.

For their very first season the junior varsity girl's basketball team did well. After losing their first three games, the girls came back for an 8-5 record for the season. Best Season Yet

The cross country team ran to a 10-1 dual meet record. The team came in second in the Commonwealth District, the toughest cross country district in the state. This was the highest finish ever for a team from Charlottesville. The Knights moved into the regional meet, which they hosted, and finished a disappointing fourth. Coach Bob Willson was not dismayed, however, because a fourth place finish qualified the team for the state meet. Individual Knights had gone to the state meet before, but this was the first team to make it. They finished ninth in the state.

Knights Go 16-4

The basketball team finished the regular season 16-4 and were seeded second going into the district tourney. Coach Jones' Knights went to star center Howard Randolph as the main scoring punch. Howard set a school record by scoring 43 points in one game. The team had excellent size and were probably the tallest team in the state. They consistently out-rebounded their opponents. They also rejected many shots. The team was made up of many seniors who will be sorely missed next season.

Tourney Time

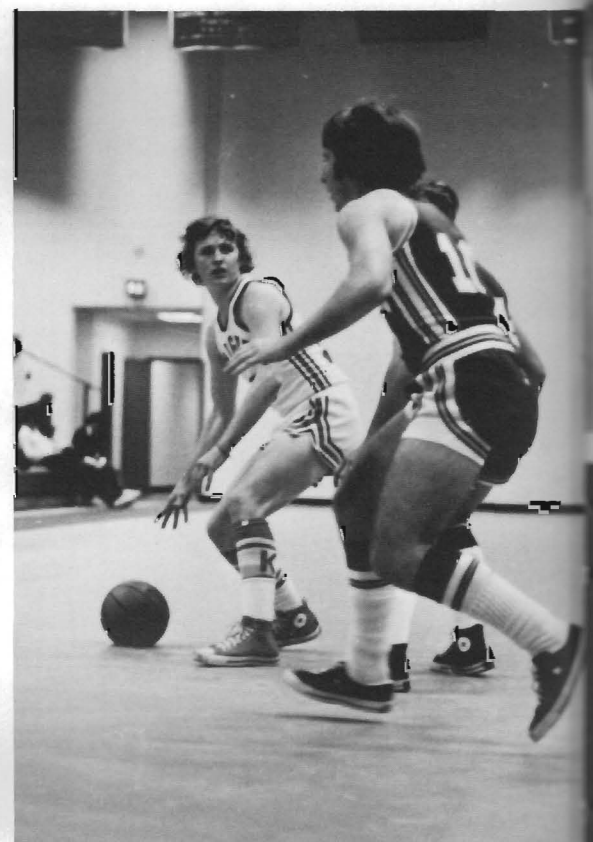

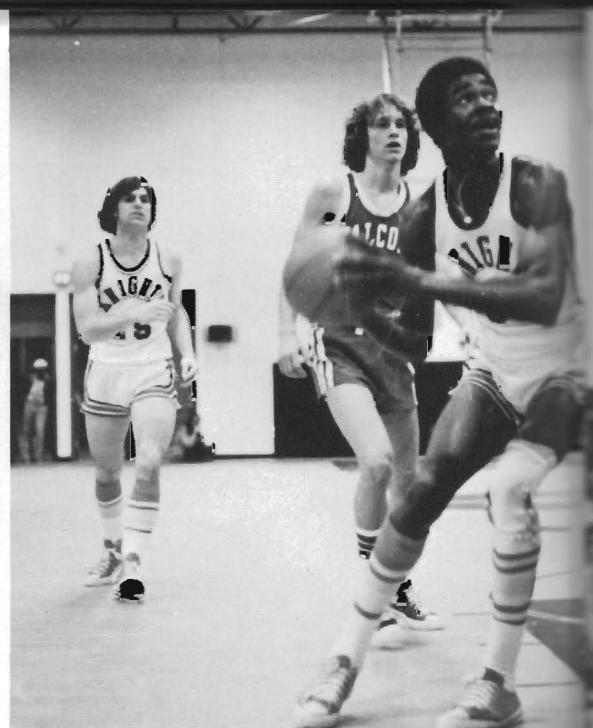

The Knights moved into the Commonwealth District Tournament seeded second. They faced the host team, seventh seeded Woodbridge. We didn't play well, but it was enough to beat the hapless Vikings. The next team to face was the James Wood Colonels. We played well this time and easily disposed of them. The next step was Garfield who beat us last year in the finals. The winner of this game would advance into the regionals. The Knights again were flat and the Indians won.

Junior Varsity 'Booming' Success

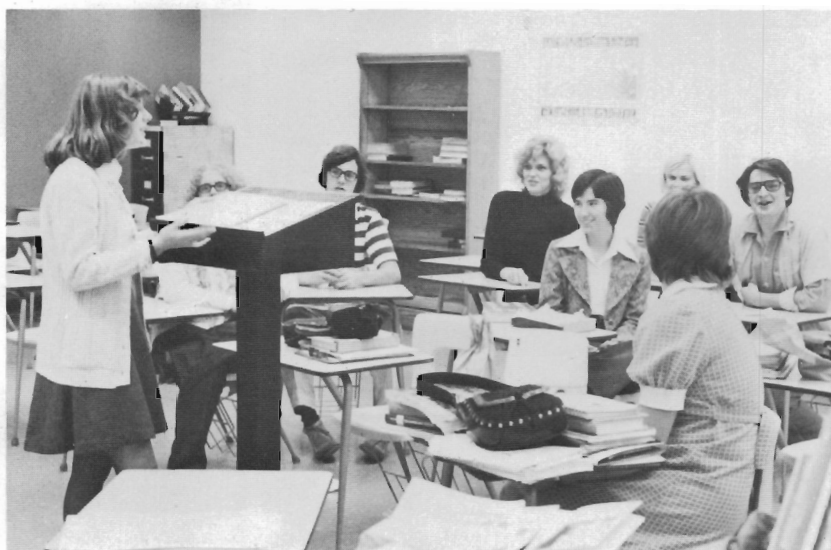

The J.V. team finished 18-2. They suffered only one district loss, to finish as the best J.V. team. The team was led by Ralph "Boomer" Smith. Coach Cy Weaver was pleased with his squad, as they ran their opponents off the court.

Learning to Inform

Fifteen well-toned voices made up the Forensics Club. Meeting once a week, the group was a public speaking organization sponsored Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Dallas. The members could spell at meets, read poetry, demonstrate their acting talents in a dramatic reading, or give extemporaneous talks on current events.

Providing a big service to the school are the office runners and library aids. The office runners take messages to students and teachers, deliver things to other parts of the building and provide an all-round service to the office. The library aids check in and out books, arrange cards, straighten shelves and help to run the Media Center.

Projects, Projects

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, both the Keyettes and the Key Club provided many services. The Key Club helped to improve the appearance of the new school by picking up litter around the parking lot and grounds. They also sold travelogue tickets for the Kiwanis Club. Collecting cans of food for the Salvation Army was another project of the Key Club.

The Keyettes, formerly the Girl's Service Club, is now a member of Keyettes International. Working as guides during the opening of school the Keyettes provided a valuable service. Composed of intra-club committees, the Keyettes Initiation Committee sponsored a ceremony for new members. They collected U.N. Day posters and cans of food for the Salvation Army. Both the Key Club and the Keyettes were valuable assets to both their school and community.

Food Everywhere

Helping to develop the knowledge of foreign languages were the French, Latin, German, and Spanish clubs. The clubs participated in enjoyable activities to make learning a language easy. The German club sold imported candies and thus became the richest club in the school. The other clubs held international dinners with the food from each country. The clubs participated in the Homecoming parade. Through much hard work their floats made a big contribution to the parade. The French, Latin, German, and Spanish clubs promote learning and fun at the same time.

Save, Recycle

Dealing with an important national issue, the condition of our environment, the Ecology Club worked hard to improve the world around us. They went on hikes to better understand nature, were responsible for landscaping court-yards, worked hard to raise money, recycled glass and wrote letters to their congressmen advising them to vote for ecology bills. The Ecology Club was very important and dedicated to the improvement of our environment.

Meeting every Monday during lunch, the Science Club provided many activities and interests for its members. Several guest speakers attended the meetings giving their ideas, showing experiments and discussing different aspects of science. The club also took some field trips for a better understanding of science.

Spirit Unites

With the increased student population of C.H.S., the open membership policy of the Student Cooperative Association was ended. Each T.A. group was allowed one representative and one alternate who were to be elected. Despite the policy change, there were over one hundred members of the S.C.A. These members proved to be effective in representing the views of the student body.

Aiding the Cheerleaders in producing school spirit, the forty member Pep Club was active the entire year. Members participated in Poster Parties every week and covered the school with spirited signs. Other club activities were the sale of flowers and ribbons.

Varied Concerns

Some of the more patient students chose to pass L.A.P. playing chess. The Chess Club was open to all students, whether novice or champions. The sponsors Miss Shields and Mr. Haden felt that students would prefer to play during all of L.A.P. therefore lunches were allowed in the room.

While members of the Art Club let their creativity run wild, the Student School Board was also hard at work. Consisting of two members from each class, the S.S.B. presented the needs and concerns of the student body to the School Board and superintendent.

We've Got Spirit

The Charlottesville varsity cheerleaders are an exuberant group of girls who boosted school spirit. With a new name and a new school, the cheerleaders faced a difficult new experience, but their working diligently resulted in success.

Hours of summer and after school practice perfected their cheering techniques. Always a smiling face and a boost to the team, the varsity cheerleaders were dedicated through freezing football games at Lane's old stadium. The pep rallies were over-whelming and full of spirit. The time-consuming posters they painted focused attention on upcoming games.

Small, but mighty, the J.V. cheerleaders led cheering at all ninth grade and J.V. games. They sold football programs and helped lead cheers in the stands during football games.

Think Musically

Music had many meanings to members of the Madrigalists, New Psalm, Flag Corps, and Drill Team. The twelve Madrigalists improved their vocal skills by club participation. Instruments such as the guitar were played by members of New Psalm for listening pleasure as well as vocal accompaniment. After hours of stringent practice, the Flag Corps and Drill Team performed before half-time audiences. Aided by the marching band, these units produced spectacular shows.

Keep the Beat

Always with the beat, the peppy Jazz Ensemble played at social functions such as concerts, pep rallies and games. The ensemble put in much practice to perfect their musical talents. The Jazz Ensemble added a lot of spirit to C.H.S.

Cold, early morning practices, marching in parades, new half-time shows and playing at games were all activities of the Charlottesville High Band. Lead by Mr. Tornello, the band has shown its most successful marching season ever.

Knights Move

Saturday mornings often found the KNIGHT-TIME staff at the print shop, red-eyed and tired, but prepared to work on the next issue's layout. Fortified by pre-layout breakfast parties, staff members arranged copy and photos amidst chaos and confusion. This year's KNIGHT-TIME staff, under Editor Margaret Jackson, tried to reflect student concerns and activities.

Twenty-five hard-working students made up the CHAIN staff. The theme was "The Black Knight Moves" chosen because of our new school. A combination of working long hours and talent, produced the first C.H.S. year-book under the direction of Editor Cornelia Boaz.

A New Atmosphere

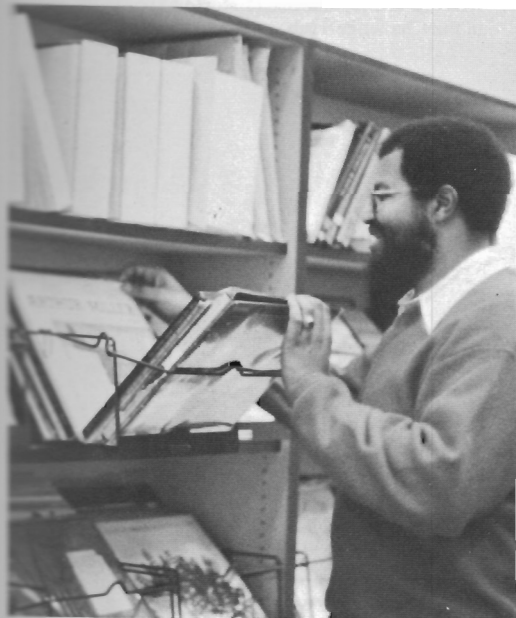

With the completion of a new building came new classes, equipment and techniques. Audio-visual aids played an important role in all classes. The use of closed-circuit color television sets, music labs, language labs and improved science labs provided increased educational benefits. A highly advanced P.A. system was the delight of students and the dread of teachers due to frequent interruptions from the administration.

Motivation

Challenge 3 was a new program of independent study where students were given the privilege of going out into the community to carry out investigations in an area of interest. Students made contracts which detailed a two week block of activity. The small size of the group involved created a family-like atmosphere. Students involved in Challenge 3 took courses of their choice in the mornings and were involved in their independent study projects all afternoon.

Imagination . . .

The Fine Arts School offered a special curriculum to those students who look at things from an artistic point of view. Among the courses offered were: film history, humanities (social studies and English combined with music, art and literature), drama, and art (such as ceramics, graphics, jewelry-making, and sculpture).

Field trips to museums, to art shows, the presence of guest speakers, and promoting an arts festival in the spring were some of the special activities.

The goal of the Fine Arts School was to increase each student's artistic sensitivity and his understanding of the humanistic attitude toward life.

Future Success

The students who were part of the Career School were learning the skills they will need for success in the business world. The courses offered included typing, stenography, bookkeeping, and office services as well as history and English classes which were planned with the special needs of the students in mind.

A student in the Career School might have been working part time; he might have been taking D.E. or going to the Vocational-Technical Center part of the day; or he might also pursue interests in any of the other sub-schools. The graduates of the Career School certainly had many advantages.

Working Experience

During its second year of operation, the Charlottesville-Albemarle Vocational Technical Center provided practical training for many Charlottesville High students. According to the enthusiastic students who participated in the Vo-Tech program, it was really a worthwhile experience.

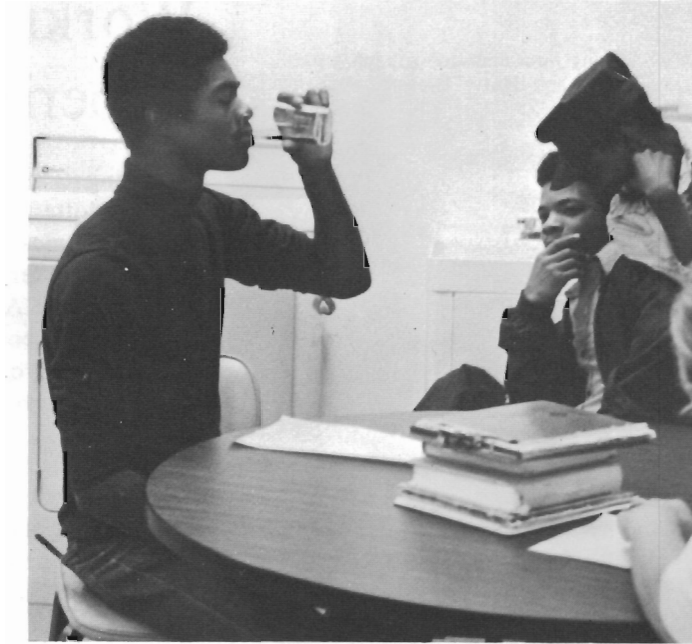

The Center offered twelve areas of study: carpentry, data processing, electronics, practical nursing, plumbing, heating and cooling, brick masonry, auto mechanics, cosmetology, food services, drafting, and machine shop-welding.

Students varied their three hour block of study between classroom activities and actual experience in their field.

BELOW: Before getting down to work, Odell Walker quenches his thirst.

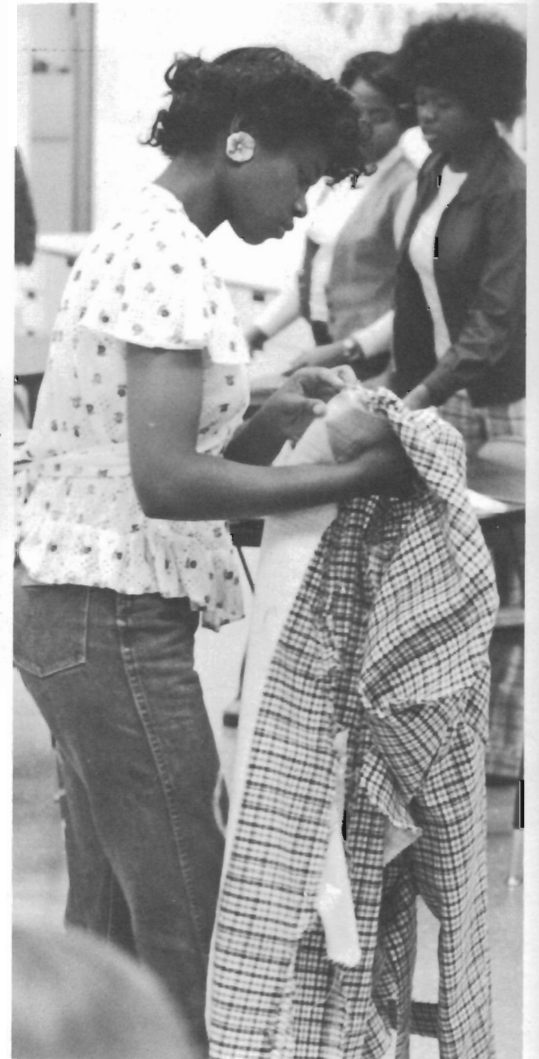

Studios Are Play

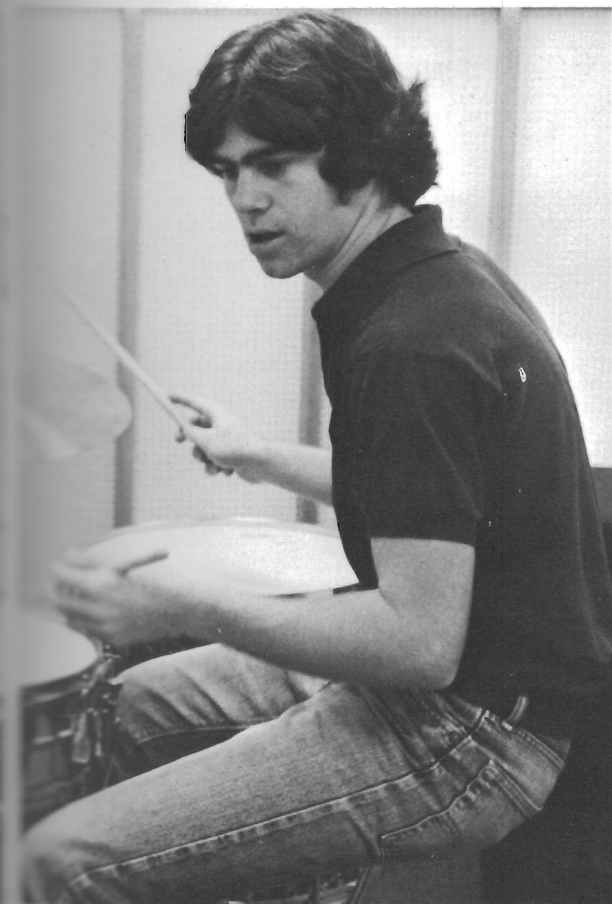

An important part of the system was work which was fun to do. Some labs which were not usually looked on as labs were sewing, cooking, painting, and speech. Each lab was an exercise in improving skills much like any other school work is supposed to do. Almost everyone participated in at least one subject which involved such practical lessons. Although all classes are important, labs usually helped break the monotony of the day.

Havoc Reigns

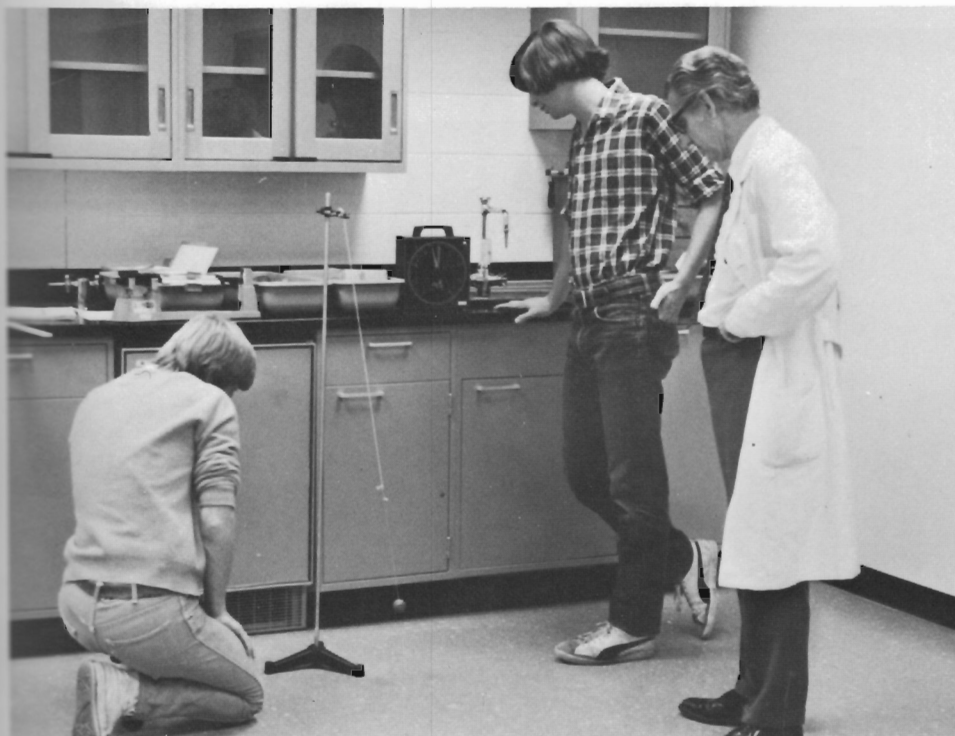

Along with the new curriculum and new teaching methods came new, up-to-date labs for biology, chemistry and physics. The first two months of school were hectic and disorganized for science students. Electricians and plumbers were constantly in the labs fixing the gas lines and spigots. There were a total of six fully equipped labs. Two were in each of the wings on the third level.

Work, Work and More Work

Classes were more varied than ever in the new building. For the first time, students could choose between regular, year-long courses and the twelve-week mini-courses. Also juniors and seniors could choose to be part of the General School, the Career School, the Fine Arts School, or Challenge 3. Class-work was sure to occupy much of every student's day.

In Class . . .

Almost

Every student is unique in many ways. One interesting aspect of individuality is how students create ways to entertain themselves during daily class routines. Their attempts at being another famous Rembrandt are evident when one is looking at sketches on desks, chairs, or scraps of paper. Some may even have a tendency to write on themselves. Other popular activities are reading comic books, blowing bubble gum, or slouching in the seats and sleeping!

Never A Dull Moment

The domain of the guidance staff is a very busy place. Some of the activities which the C.H.S. guidance department oversaw during the year were state and college testing programs, scheduling and schedule-changing, and, of course, counseling.

Whenever a student has a problem, he knows he can find a listening ear in his counselor's office. The five counselors were also helpful in aiding seniors in choosing their colleges or other post-graduate training programs.

Counselors are:
Mrs. Paulene Garrett, Coordinator of Pupil Services.

Senior Class Officers Of '75

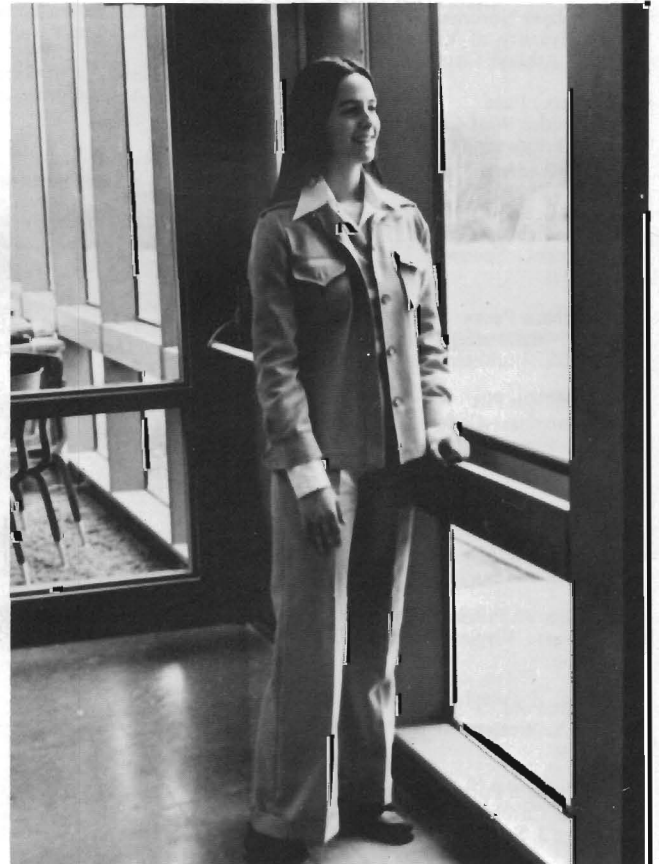

When I think about the olden days,
About childhood games and carefree
plans,
About having someone to look out
for me
And not appreciating it,
I feel sad.
Then I remember now—
Being old and big
And looked up to
And responsible
And I feel good
Being a senior.

Unfamiliarity

Seniors in a new school
Frustrated
Having the same problems as freshmen:
Unfamiliar lockers
Unfamiliar classes
Unfamiliar courses
Unfamiliar seniors of '75.

RIGHT: Fighting for a lunch table presented a new problem for these seniors.

A black and white photograph of a cemetery. In the foreground, there is a paved path that curves through a grassy area. Several large, mature trees with dense foliage are scattered throughout the scene, casting shadows on the ground. In the background, numerous tombstones of various shapes and sizes are visible, some partially obscured by the trees. The overall atmosphere is peaceful and somber.

Lie down now,
My friend,
And rest
After so violent a death
For one who lived in peace with himself.
Do not feel the cold
Nor fear the darkness that would have you—
Know only of the love that goes with you
And find your way.
Go now,
Dear friend,
And be as you were in life—
FREE.

Out To Lunch

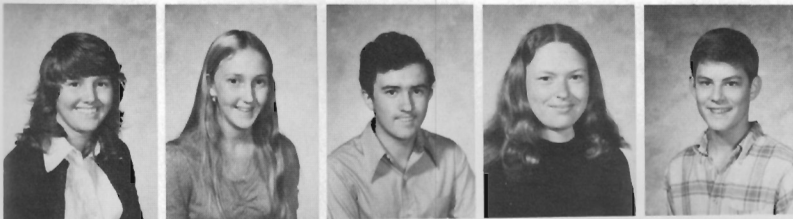

Mass confusion,
Taking off for lunch,
Flying spouts of gravel.
Trash from munchies,
Big enough for legal parking.
Busses straight ahead,
Teachers: right.
Students: left.
Directions everywhere.
No escape,
Traffic jams.
Parking lot.

LEFT: Wondering if one of the many trucks at C.H.S. will block his path, a student prepares to leave the parking lot.

We don't make promises. We make guarantees.

We have too many good things to offer you to make any up. (They are so good you may think we are making them up.) Read on.

We won't guarantee you anything we can't pay off. (If we guarantee you Hawaii, start waxing your surfboard. You'll need it.)

Everything we guarantee will be put down in writing. In a legal document that you get a copy of. (If you agree to sign for computer training and the Delayed Entry Option, it will all be spelled out in language you can understand. We want you to know without a shred of doubt that you'll get everything signed for. So we'll give you this card. On the front is what you signed for. And on the back is an address to write to in the Pentagon just in case you didn't get what's on the front.

We think today's Army has a lot to offer you. We'll try to convince you of that. That's our job. But we'll never try to mislead you. That's our job too.

IT'S THE

COKE

to the Graduating Class

You have already been told that the world is at your feet and is yours for the effort, that the challenges are great as are the rewards. There is no doubt that is true.

Let us add this. You have just conquered one major hurdle in your life—graduating from school. You did it by taking one day at a time, one week at a time, one test at a time. That's the way life is—one step at a time. And each step builds on the one before it. "Genius is the capacity to take infinite pains." Few of us are geniuses but each of us owes it to himself to do every task to the best of his ability and in his own inimitable way.

Each of us has a contribution to make to society. What yours is and will be is now in the making.

Making It Do

Although classes began on Sept. 16, workmen stayed in the building until the end of January. Approximately one-third of the building was not ready to be occupied when school started. Classes operated without bulletin boards and using old blackboards borrowed from an abandoned school until after the Christmas vacation. Science labs had no gas or water spigots until mid-October. Classes were conducted as workmen finished putting up bulletin boards and chalkboards.

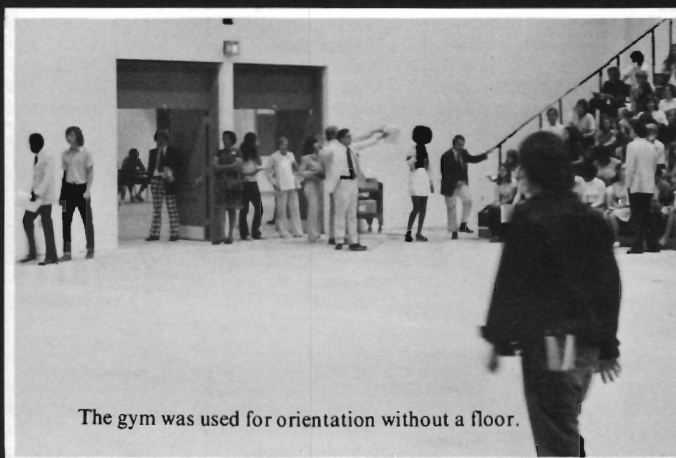

Conditions were greatly improved when work was finished. Halls were bright and attractive. Classrooms were functional. The T.V. studio was operational and it recorded many programs and specials for use throughout the school.

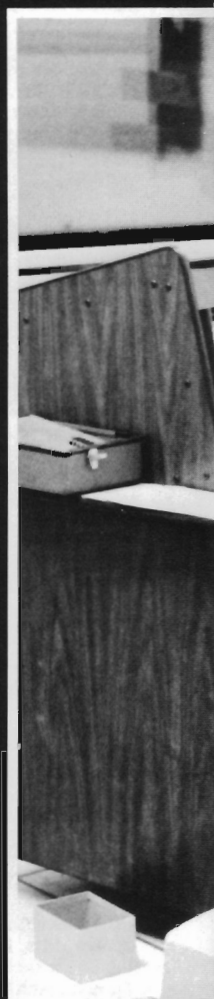

The chorus room is not ready for occupants yet.

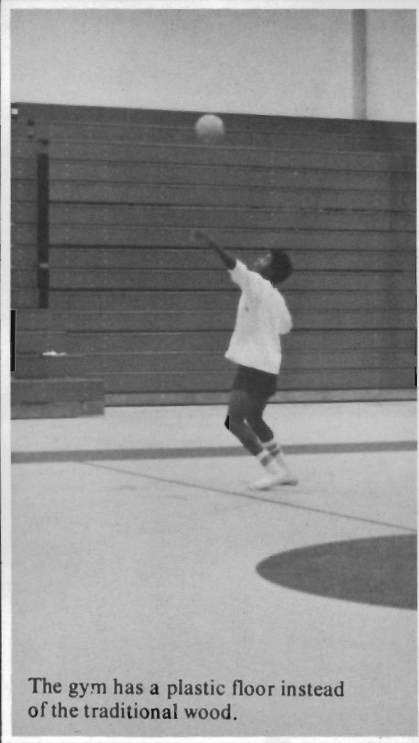

Students use the tennis courts despite their many rolls and curves.

The gym was used for orientation without a floor.

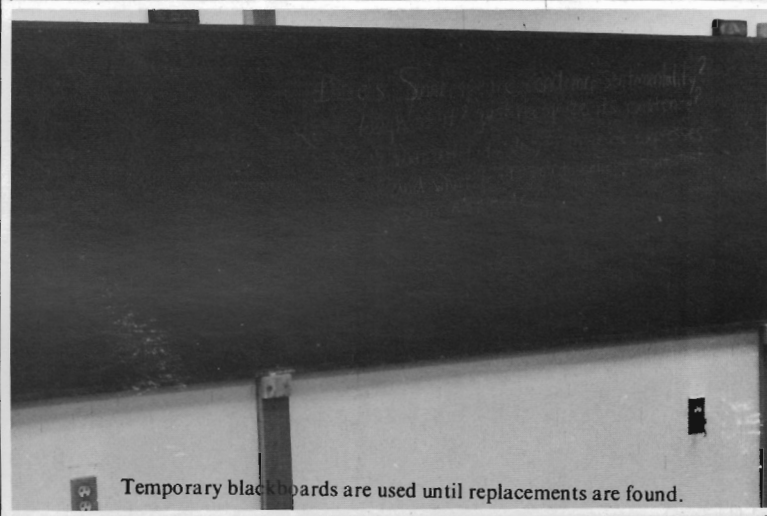

The gym has a plastic floor instead of the traditional wood.

After a delay the Glee Club is able to use the chorus room.

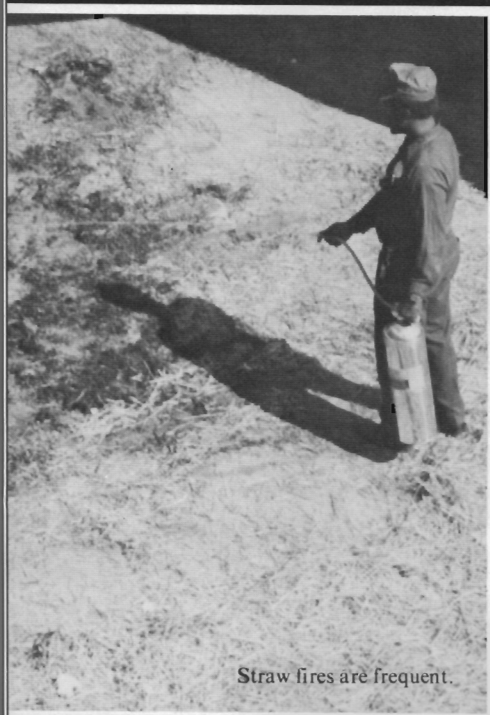

The T.V. studio is the last room to be completed.

Temporary blackboards are used until replacements are found.

Clean Up . . . Go Out

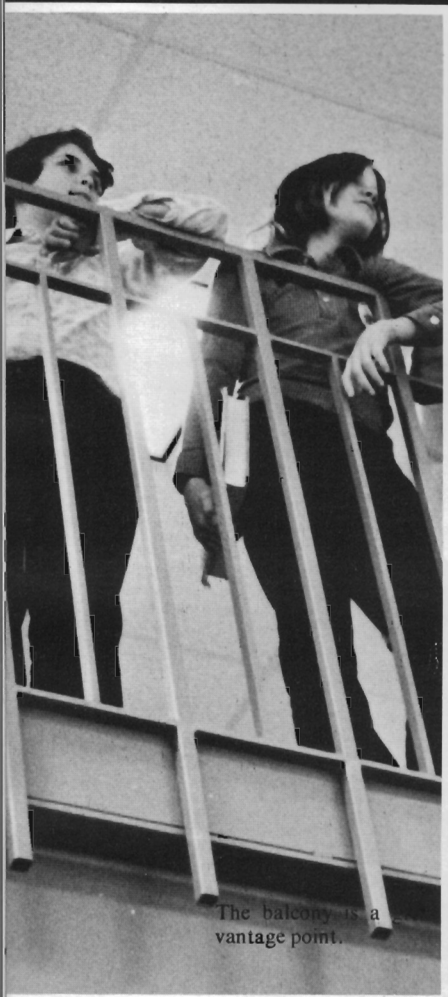

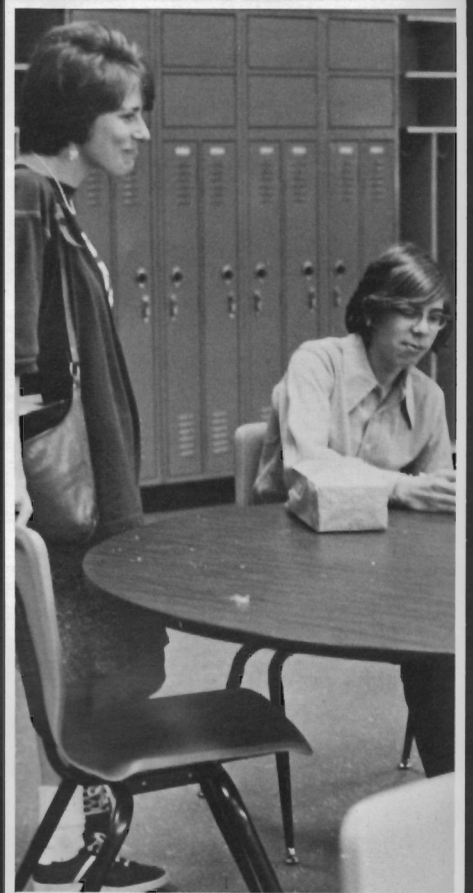

With parking lots for over 500 students' cars, there were few cans for trash. As a result, a problem with litter was apparent after the first few weeks of school. In the three cafeterias, there seemed to be a shortage of chairs and trash cans and again there was litter. Despite warnings from the administration, the situation prevailed. When there was a chance for the privilege of going out to lunch, there was a drastic improvement. The S.C.A. organized a clean-up and indeed Knights were allowed to go out to lunch.

Making It Work

With the addition of a new class and 700 students, Knights faced a new situation. Turbulence was predictable as a result of so many people getting to know each other and finding their places in the unfamiliar territory of the new building.

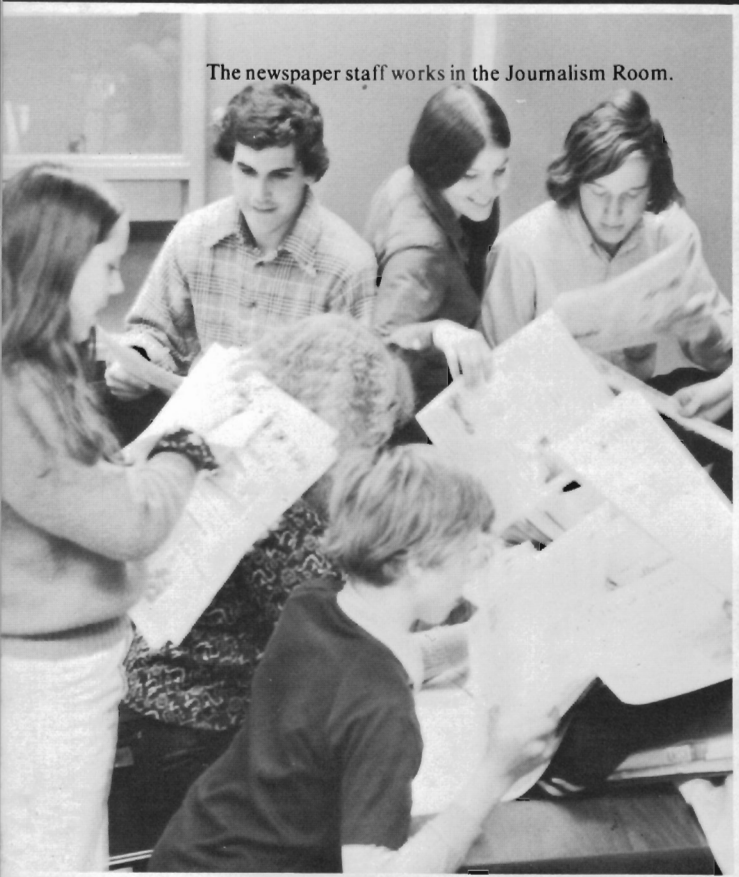

To cope with the resulting problems, faculty and students worked on measures to diminish tensions. Among plans adopted to settle things were a tightening of teacher supervision during LAP and increased attention to giving and checking hall passes.

As the year rolled on, tensions eased, students "related".

Life Goes On

After coming into an incomplete building with a new class, Knights had their problems. But they made adjustments. Friends remained friends; people made new friends; and students got to know new teachers. Old clubs continued; new clubs were formed; and classes went on as usual for 180 days. People continued to hold jobs, party, and study just as Knights had done at Lane.

Charlottesville, Onward!
Onward to fame!
Push on ever forward;
Keep your good name.
Forever we'll sing out,
Shout! Out the cry,
Forever loyal to our school,
Charlottesville High!

THE BLACK KNIGHT
HAS MOVED

CHARLOTTESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

Preparations Begin

A small group of juniors worked on the decorations for the prom beginning around Christmas time. Every Wednesday and Thursday one could have found hard-working people making paper flowers. Meetings every week occupied much of their time.

The invitations were given to seniors, but juniors had to pay $4 per couple. As usual the last week before prom was extremely hectic. Last minute details proved to be a headache. Decorating Friday night seemed to be a never-ending job. Finally at 12:30 a.m. everything was done except for minor touches. At last the big night arrived...

BELOW: Working on invitations for prom seems like an enjoyable job for Rebecca Anderson and Patty Dart.

Summer Wishes Winter Dreams

Summer Wishes Winter Dreams brought to many couples a very enjoyable evening at the first CHS prom. Upon arriving at the dance one saw the lobby decorated in a bright orange and yellow, with a big sun on one wall and flowers on the pillars depicting a summer scene. The refreshment table was beautified with flowers and candles. The couples danced to the music of Sandcastle with chandeliers above and a silver tinsel column around expressing winter dreams. The 1975 prom was a great success and the effort the Juniors put into it was very much appreciated.

Baseball has .500 Season

This year's baseball team finished the season with a somewhat disappointing 8-8 record. After three district championships in a row, the Black Knights fell behind and were unable to catch up. After the nightmarish start, Coach Joe Binger's diamond men began playing with renewed inspiration. Victories over arch rivals Woodbridge and Albemarle marked the first time in years that the Knights swept both games from them. These wins, with the hard work and feeling of togetherness, gave the Knights an enjoyable and satisfying campaign.

Girls' Sports

C.H.S. got another new look this year as girl's track came into play. Track joined girl's softball and girl's tennis to complete the women's lib look. The girls were very impressive. Their coach, Tommy Pace turned out several exceptional athletes.

LEFT: In the hurdles Missy Wood and Andrea West leave the competition behind.

Trackmen Strong

The track team compiled an excellent season record this year. They had a 5-1 dual meet record, the only loss coming at the hands of the state champs. They were very impressive in their four home meets, breaking the 100 point barrier each time. They looked very good in both the district and regional track meets, taking home the runner-up trophy in both. They closed out the season with a seventh place finish in the state.

RIGHT: Mike Ritter soars in the pole vault.

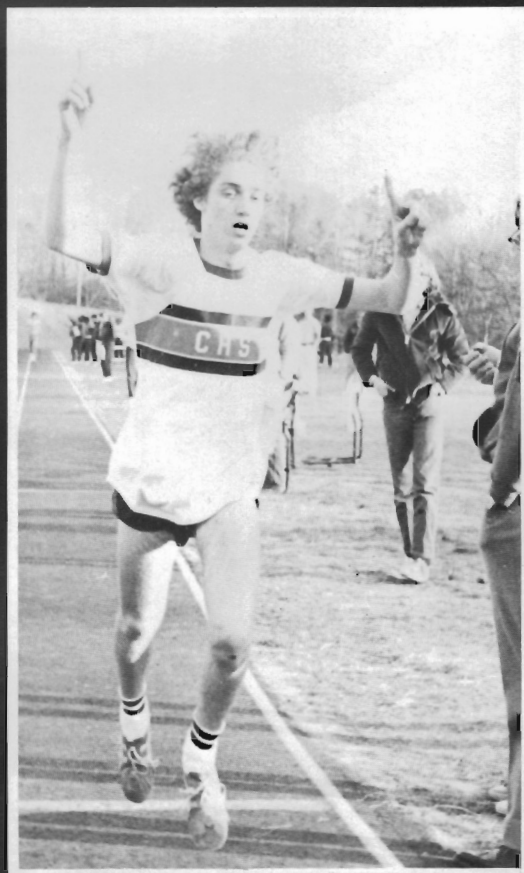

Records Fall

Many outstanding performances were turned in by the track team. Six records were set as the team finished a strong seventh in the state. Doug Horn set new mile and two mile marks with 4:15:2 and 9:34:8. Dale Sloan sent the shot 58 feet 8 inches. The hurdles were flown over by Rodney Chesley in 14:2 and Wayne Tyler erased the intermediate record with 396. A smoking 1:28:5 was turned in by the 880 relay team of Rodney Chesley, Duane Smith, Louis Whitlock, and Mike Keys.

RIGHT: Willie Griffin and John Haggerty go 1-2 in the 440.

Although the boys' tennis team lost four starters from 1974, they were still able to achieve an undefeated season. Two returning letter men from last season and four inexperienced players made up the successful team. Coach Terry and co-captains Andy Scott and Angus Macauley supervised practices every day after school. The boys' gained statewide attention for their play this season.

The girl's team really proved their ability with an undefeated season. Practices after school were supervised by Coach Roberts and co-captains

Susan Davis and Tammy Wessel. After their perfect season, Jill Allen moved on to win the singles and Tammy Wessel and Maddy Schwartz won the doubles in the district and regional tournaments. At state, Maddy and Tammy were runners up and Jill placed third in singles.

A Fine Season

In its first season with varsity status, the C.H.S. lacrosse team earned a successful season, finishing 7-3. The Black Knights were plagued by inexperience at the beginning of the season, losing to two fine New York teams and to Blue Ridge. The stickmen then steam rolled with impressive victories, the last two in the city championships which C.H.S. won over Albemarle and Belfield.

Hit the Links

Under the able coaching of Tom Zimorski, the Black Knight golf team finished with a four and four team record. The scoring leader was Kevin McCusty with Dave Deane, Neil Snoddy and Dale Dudley all turning in good performances. Next year's team is promising for Coach Zimorski as all four starters are returning.

Even the rain failed to stop people from enjoying a swim in Chris Green lake. Afterwards everyone met back at the shelter for dinner which consisted of fried chicken, potato salad and cokes. The End

When we were fit for caps and gowns, everyone was looking forward to graduation. The realization of graduation continued with sending announcements and Baccalaureate. We have mixed emotions because we want to get out of C.H.S., but we know there are people we will never see again. Many thoughts run through our heads as we each walk up to receive our diplomas. All the good and bad times of our three high school years have brought us to this big step in our lives. Walking back to our seats, we think of how we will celebrate, for we really made it.
